

In India, there are over a million TB cases per year. The main reason for the relapse of TB is because of the approach towards the disease. Even though there are effective treatments for TB, people infected by it are sometimes not compliant with their medications due to cost and the associated side effects. I think these issues of dealing with TB needed to be looked into more detail.

Dr Varun Subramani, Intern Medical Officer,
VIMS and RC